The Crow and the Peacock

Johanna Fernihough

There are lots of different birds featured in this story.

Match the birds to the reasons that the other birds think that they must be happy. Some birds may have two reasons.

Dove

Nightingale

Cockerel

Swan

Peacock

Has a magnificent singing voice
Spends all day swimming
Has feathers that sparkle like jewels
Is so beautiful
Has a famous call
Wears the crown of a majestic king
Has a soft cooing call

You can cut this sheet up and stick the reasons next to the birds in your book.

The Crow and the Peacock

The crow discovers in the end that he is happy with his dark feathers and his shrill call.

Think about the gifts that you have inside yourself and what makes you happy.

Write them on the bird below
